Fill it out. Fax it in. Call for results.

NOTE: IRS did not publish a Refund Cycle Chart for the current tax season, instead advising taxpayers to check the "Where's My Refund?" link at www.irs.gov for an individualized refund deposit date.

"Where's My Refund?" includes a tracker that displays your tax return's progress through three stages:

1. Return Received
2. Refund Approved
3. Refund Sent

Return progress can be updated by IRS on a daily basis instead of weekly as in prior years, and the Refund Sent date will be actual instead of estimated.

Overall acceptance-to-deposit timeframe is expected to be similar to past years in which direct deposit refunds (that were not pulled for review) were received 7 to 14 days after acceptance, faster for simpler returns.
